

Any Speaker Can Inform. Lee Also Inspires.

About Lee Rubin:

As the adult Sunday School class teacher at his local church, Lee pours into the lives of his students on a weekly basis. He shares the Bible's timeless truths with unmatched clarity, and challenges his listeners to apply those principles in order to live abundant lives.

Lee has inspired audiences across the country, through conference keynote addresses, corporate training sessions, sports awards banquets and other events, with his powerful, insightful and relatable messages of leadership development and personal growth.

Lee was a hometown star, a three-sport student-athlete who, through determination and faith, became a three-year starter and defensive captain for Penn State's Nittany Lions Football team.

Topic Summaries

Available as 45-60 minute keynote, 1/2 or full day workshops

What do You Have in the House?

This lesson is based on the story of a widow that is faced with a dilemma - pay off the debt of her late husband, or have her sons taken as slaves.

Too often we view our gifts, abilities and resources as insignificant. As a result, we fail to utilize them and forfeit God's ability to multiply what we commit to Him. At the end of this study, listeners will understand their role in identifying and putting to use the God-given resources that are already "in the house".

Importunity

This is a powerful lesson on prayer! In response to a question from his disciples, Jesus shared an interesting principle that we will examine. Understanding and applying a funny word like importunity will help you get serious results through prayer.

This message is guaranteed to provide the spark to jump-start your prayer life.

Grasshoppers

Self-perception easily translates into how you are perceived by others. Based on the account of the spies of Israel and their reaction to their survey of the "Promised Land", this lesson investigates the dynamics of self-perception. When we see ourselves as grasshoppers, so does everyone else.

We will extract truths from this text that will help us see ourselves as God sees us.

Invite Lee to speak at:

- Workshops & Leadership Meetings
- Conferences & Retreats
- Training Sessions
- Celebrations

Will This Road Get Me There?

Often, people think that the road they're on will get them to where they want to go. However, misguided effort eventually leads to frustration and confusion. The reality is, effort is not enough - you have to be on the right road. In the absence of other options, people will stay on the same, familiar road, hoping that it will lead to their desired destination.

This message challenges listeners to evaluate their current course of action and help them get back on track.

The Miracle is in the Principle

God has created systems, principles and laws that govern life on earth. These systems are designed to produce results for those who understand and act accordingly. Unfortunately, many of us fail to recognize the supernatural presence in systems that appear natural, normal, and mundane.

This lesson examines some of the systems and principles that God has established to benefit those who obey His instructions. It will help us understand that there are miracles hidden in life's simple principles.

A Financial Lesson from the Joseph Story

Hidden in this story of Joseph's miraculous rise to power in Pharaoh's kingdom is a very important lesson in financial stewardship. After using his gift to supernaturally interpret Pharaoh's dream, Joseph is commissioned to create and execute a very practical financial plan.

In this lesson, we identify the timeless wisdom that, if applied consistently, will transform our financial lives.

For more information, contact Lee at (732) 685-3708,
or via email, lrubin39@hotmail.com.